Here, however, we have unconsciously introduced the idea of a line having a positive or negative value. Fora, we know, means] a; and, if in our reasonings wc should happen to arrive at some negative result as the value of a line, (if, for instance, it came out, at the end of a problem, that the value of a certain line was -b), What would this (-) sign mean ? We shall show that it indicates contrariety of direction to some line which we have before represented by a positive algebraical symbol. For let AB be a line, containing a units, which we y A c express algebraically by a or+a. Then, if from the end B we measure off in the direction BA a line BC containing b units, the length of the line A C will be a - b units, and, therefore, its algebraical expression will be a-b. Now, if b be less than a, this expression for A C will be positive, and C...
